Emma talks about teaching in the UK

Emma talks about her experience living and teaching in the UK. Emma came across from Canada and settled in Brighton on the South Coast of England.

Brighton is a creative and colourful city, only an hour from London and close to major airports. Emma began her UK teaching adventure as a guaranteed supply teacher in Brighton.

Get started now for September 2024

Lots of people ask us when to register if they want to work in the UK. We can help you turn it all around in as little as 4-6 weeks but the ideal scenario is helping you plan and get organised over 6-12 months. Teachers planning to secure a job in September (the start of the UK school year), often reach out now and get started on their documents over the break, so when jobs start to come through around Easter, we have what we need to present you to schools. So if you are thinking about going in September, get in touch now!

Join the Teach in Community

We love holding regular networking events for new and established teachers in the UK. They are usually catch ups in a pub or similar venue, where everyone can chat with Teach in staff and other teachers and support staff just like them. It is also common for us to connect teachers before they arrive in the UK, so they can consider living together or at least have someone to catch up when they arrive. We make sure you are part of the Teach in community and feel connected throughout your time in the UK.
