Key Dates for Teaching in the UK in 2024

Are you considering teaching in the UK in 2024? Here are the UK school term, end of term and half-term break dates for 2024. There are slight variations depending on where schools are located but this is a good guide if you are planning a UK teaching adventure. The three main times to secure a fixed-term contact are at the start of one of the three terms (Early January, After Easter or the beginning of September). If you are looking for supply work, we suggest arriving anytime between late September and April.

Get the edge on other candidates with our Video Interview Platform

Many teachers ask us why we can gain access to top tier schools across London and in other parts of England and Wales. International teachers are generally at a disadvantage when it comes to interviewing for quality jobs in outstanding schools. British Principals generally opt for local candidates they can meet in person rather than look through CVs from overseas teachers. We have invested in a platform that allows our teachers to record themselves answering the 10 most asked questions and that allow schools to review and compare with British candidates. The results speak for themselves.
