Watch our latest overseas teacher video

We recently visited and spoke to some of our teachers from Australia and Canada, who have started jobs in top London schools in the last few months. We also spoke to Headteachers at our partner schools about why they love welcoming international teachers into their school community. We have early vacancies in these and other schools across London and in other parts of England for September. Now is the time to get started with your paperwork and we can then introduce you to schools that suit your preferences.

Don't be pushed into one work pathway

If you have been talking to an agency that is pushing one agenda, work-wise for the UK, be wary. Teaching and type of teaching work is not a one size fits all profession. The kind of work that will work for you in the UK will be based on several factors. These include your location preference and cost of living, length of stay, arrival date, amount of travel planned and career goals. Talk to us about the work options available and the pro's and con's of each work pathway. We offer supply, contract and permanent roles, so there is no agenda.

Headteacher Series

1. Preparing for Virtual Teaching Interviews

Teach in

Part 1 - Headteacher Series

During covid, we asked esteemed UK Principal, Stuart McLaughlin to partner with us to create a series for overseas and local British teachers that walks you through the main things you need to know to thrive in a UK classroom.

Part 1 focuses on preparing teachers for virtual interviews, which were done across the board in the UK during covid lockdowns. These tips are always helpful and relevant for overseas teachers who are interviewing remotely to secure a job. We'd love to hear your thoughts on this video and look out for Part 2 next month on Behaviour Management in British classrooms.
