Travel Europe based on the UK School Holidays

The British school year is made up of 3 long terms, with a 1 week break 6 weeks into each term, and a 2 week break at the end of the final 6 weeks of term. There are 6 weeks of summer holiday from mid July-September and lots of long weekends that allow teachers to travel close to home or right across Europe. Flights are cheap and so the teachers we support really make the most of being on Europe's doorstep. and travel as much as they can.

This means living pretty frugally in term time but the holidays make it all worthwhile!

Travel Safe in Europe

Traveling alone in the UK and Europe is a fantastic experience, but safety is essential, especially for solo travellers.

We have written a blog to help solo travellers navigate travel in Europe. We have some tailored tips for Aussie, NZ and Canadians heading to Europe, so you can stay safe and experience an amazing adventure.

We help teachers make their UK teaching and travel adventure come to life every year and there are easy ways to make sure you have the trip of lifetime rather than a holiday from hell!

Our Teachers Love to travel!

Our teachers love to travel!

There are the usual spots that everyone wants to visit- Paris, Barcelona, Rome and Amsterdam and then everyone's bucket list is a bit different. Croatia is now a must for many, while others want to explore Berlin, Prague and Scandinavia. Greece is always a good idea and don't forget that flying to Morocco or Iceland or Turkey are all not far from the UK.

So many of our teachers who meet at our Induction or Networking Events decide to travel together in one of the many school holidays.
